

JANUARY SUPPLEMENT OF THE MONTH: CATALYN AND CATALYN CHEWABLE

WHY WHOLE FOOD VITAMINS VS SYNTHETIC??

Whole food supplements, like Catalyn, as the name implies come directly from FOOD. They contain the entire vitamin complex, including all the nutrients, enzymes, co-enzymes, trace minerals and mineral activators. The quality, effectiveness and synergy of whole food supplements are second to none.

Synthetic supplements, as the name implies, are synthesized or 'made' in a factory. They contain only a small fraction of the vitamin complex and often do not include all nutrients, enzymes and minerals. Synthetic supplements often mega-dose only one portion of the vitamin complex- leaving you missing the rest.

Not sure where to start on your health journey? The easiest solution would be to ditch your synthetic multivitamin and switch to Catalyn- a WHOLE FOOD supplement designed to fill in the nutritional gaps in your diet and made with ingredients you can pronounce!
